Project Based Learning

Project Based Learning is one of the teaching methods we use at Good Shepherd Christian Academy.

Projects are focused on critical thinking/problem solving, communication, collaboration, and self-management.

Students engage in a rigorous, extended process of asking questions, finding resources, and applying information.

Projects feature real-world context, tasks and tools, quality standards, or impact – or speaks to students' personal concerns, interests, and issues in their lives.

Students presented their PBL at Concordia University Chicago.
